INDIANAPOLIS— Life Centers, Inc., formerly Central Indiana Crisis Pregnancy Center (CICPC), has received the honor of being named 2008 “Shining Light” Ministry from MinistryWatch.com, an independent watchdog organization that reports on faith-based public charities parachurch ministries.

Ministrywatch.com selects 30 ministries annually to receive the national award which recognizes exemplary operation in seven areas: Transparency, Truth Claims, Values, Sectors/Functions, Resourcefulness, Red Flag Issues, and Consultation.

Other 2008 recipients of the “Shining Light” recognition include: Campus Crusade for Christ, Compassion International, Crown Financial Ministries and Wycliffe Bible Translators.

“We are greatly humbled to have received this recognition,” Brian Boone, Life Centers president and CEO, said. “To be in the company of other outstanding ministries selected for being Christian not only in name, but also in integrity of practice, is a great honor. We have strived to maximize ministry resources so that we can continue to provide an outstanding level of care to thousands of women facing unplanned pregnancies in our community.”

MinistryWatch.com is a non-profit organization that compiles data to report on the financial and operational transparency of Christian ministries. The organization’s goal is to empower donors with knowledge about the business and stewardship practices of ministries so they can make informed decisions regarding their gifts.

In 2008, Life Centers provided over 21,741 free services to women facing unplanned pregnancies in Central Indiana. These free of charge services include pregnancy testing, ultrasounds, sexually-transmitted disease testing, confidential counseling and maternity support.
