Life Centers to Open New Center in Hendricks County
A full-time pregnancy resource center to offer free services in Plainfield

Indianapolis, IN: Today, Life Centers announced the completion date of its newest pregnancy resource center, which will be located in Plainfield Indiana. The center will be located at 1826 E. Main Street Plainfield, Indiana 46168 near the intersection of US 40 & Dan Jones Road, close to Ace Hardware. The pregnancy center will open on December 10th providing services such as pregnancy tests, peer counseling, maternity support items, ultrasound referrals, support referrals, adoption referrals, post abortion counseling and much more, all at no cost to the clients. The center will carry the name 'Pregnancy Choices Indy', the same name used on the seven other Life Center locations.

Life Centers' Executive Director, Tom Shevlot, says, "We are excited to have a greater presence in Hendricks County and look forward to serving women and men who might be facing pregnancy decisions. We want them to know there are people who care and are willing to help meet the needs of women and men here in the community."

Life Centers has had a presence in Hendricks County for over 15 years, but will now have a center that is open full time and able to support one of the fastest growing counties in Indiana.

Shevlot credits the local churches and community for helping to make the new center a reality. "We are grateful for the financial support from the community which is necessary to meet the needs of many clients who seek out our support in their time of need."
